In the city court on Friday mornin the cases against Mrs. Christena Four nier, aged 23, of Woonsocket, and Phil ip Matthe of Danielson were called each being charged with the theft of necklace from Mrs. Mary Sharkey, Ac cording to the testimony, the Fournie woman and Matthe had been togethe Friday, the second night of the Elks' bazaar in Olympic hall, practically equalled the opening night in the size of the crowd present and made a busy evening for all the committees and eager assistants among the fair sex who were on hand. For the early part of the evening the crowd was there to hear the excellent entertainment programme, but they lingered on afterwards till a late hour, finding the dancing attractive and giving liberal patronage to the enticing offerings from the pretty booths. cording to the testimony, the Fournier woman and Matthe had been together for a day or more, and were in a Railroad avenue house when Mr. and Mrs. Sharkey and another man from Versailles came in. The three had come in for some beer, and invited the others to join them, which they did. Claiming that he had lost $90, but which was found later, the man with the Sharkeys started out to look for it, and they accompanied him, but Mrs. Sharkey came back, saying she had lost her necklace. Mrs. Fournier denied having it, and so did Matthe.

Later Mrs. Fournier admitted she knew where the necklace was, and said Matthe had it. He acknowledged it and pulled it out from the leg of his underwear from a point near the knee. Matthe claimed that the necklace, which unclasps easily, fell from Mrs. Sharkey's neck, and Mrs. Fournier did not take it. He picked it up and later she grabbed it from him and would not allow him to give it up, going upstairs with it. The woman declared that it was Matthe who didn't want to give up the jewelry. Both were fined $7 and costs, amounting to $11 in each case. The woman's fine was paid by a local citizen, but the man took an appeal in order to have time to get the money.

At 5 o'clock Friday morning William W. Mish went to his barn, No. 309 Asylum street, to get his grocery team and it could not be found. There was no trace of the horse, Concord buggy and two harnesses. He had not been to the barn since 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when he put the team up, so it is not known at what time the team was taken. Mr. Mish keeps a grocery story in Sherman street, near which he lives. No noise had been heard by those living near his barn and no one had been seen about there. The loss of the outfit was at once communicated to the police and Chief Murphy and Sergeant Twomey were out in an auto most of the morning endeavoring to locate the team. All the places within a wide range have been notified and it is believed the team will be recovered. It is thought that whoever took it drove north and has probably gone into Massachusetts. The horse weighs about 1100 pounds, is black, and a good traveler. The wagon is a Concord style, with red body and running sear, and there are two sets of harnesses, one of which is new and the other has been used some.

druff, falling hair and all scalp diseases.

News of the quick action of this wonderful invigorator spread rapidly. And today without any sensational or untrue advertising, Parisian Sage is used extensively in almost every town in America. And what has produced this great demand? Simply this: Parisian Sage does just what we are telling the readers of The Bulletin it will do.

We claim, and we back our claim with The Lee & Osgood Co.'s money back guarantee, that Parisian Sage is the most invigorating and rejuvenating hair tonic. It cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching scalp; it makes the hair grow strong and vigorous, yet soft and lustrous. It is the only hair dressing that reaches the condy hair dressing that reaches the dandruff germ.

And to the women who are reading this simple statement of fact, we want to say that Parisian Sage works wonders with women's hair. It will turn duti, harsh and faded hair into beautiful, radiant and lustrous hair in a few days, and is the most pleasant and satisfying dressing any woman ever used.

FOUND DEAD IN BED. Miss Mary Royston Passed Away During the Night from Heart Disease.

On Friday morning Miss Mary Royston, aged 47, of No. 56 School street, a domestic, was found dead in bed at her father's home. She had been suffering from heart trouble, but was no worse, apparently, when she retired Thursday night. When she could not be awakened Dr. Harper was sent for and ascertaining that life was extinct he called Medical Examiner R. W. Kimball, who decided that death resulted from heart disease.

Miss Royston was born in this city, where she has always lived. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Royston and is survived by her father and one brother. Thomas Royston, Jr.
